

PRIVACY

Sites covered by this statement

This online Privacy statement covers the collection and use of data on the Conceptronic website.

Information Conceptronic collects

Conceptronic collects two kinds of information; Personal Identifiable Information (Information that let us know the specifics of who you are) and Non-Personal Identifiable Information (information that does not by itself identify a specific individual).

Conceptronic collects Personal Identifiable Information (PII) when you use the website. It may e.g. include your name, home address, phone number, e-mail address, employer, and job title. Conceptronic request PII when you ask us to send you product information directly or to other people; in that case Conceptronic will collect information you submit about they recipient. It will be clear when you are on a part of the website that requires PII because Conceptronic will ask you for it. And you will have the choice about how Conceptronic uses that information.

The Non-Personal Identifiable Information (NPII) Conceptronic collects when you visit the website may include the Uniform Resource Locator (URL) of the website that you came from before visiting the Conceptronic website, your Internet Protocol (IP) address, and any search terms entered on the website.

Why Conceptronic collects your information

The purpose of collecting information is to provide you, the customer, superior service and a smooth, efficient, and personalized experience while using the website. PII we use to provide the requested information. NPII is used to analyze customer behavior to help Conceptronic understand how visitors use the website, to make the site easier to use and to customize our customer approach.

How Conceptronic uses your information

Conceptronic collects certain NPII when you visit the website or click on banner ads for Conceptronic products and services. Conceptronic collect this information to help run the website more efficiently, to gather demographic information, to monitor the level of activity on the website, and to evaluate effectiveness.

Conceptronic collects PII when you register your Conceptronic products online. Conceptronic keeps this information for reference in case you request customer service support.

Conceptronic may collect certain information when you request technical support for your Conceptronic products. This information is necessary to identify your systems, configuration and to diagnose your problem to provide a solution. Conceptronic collects PII from volunteers to complete surveys or participate in polls, to improve Conceptronic products and services.

Conceptronic collects PI from customers when they enter promotional programs or to administer to activities, to send promotional e-mails, notify winners, and make winners' list publicly available pursuant.

Conceptronic collects PII when you ask for newsletters, promotional e-mails, and other information to provide to your request. When contacting us, Conceptronic may keep PII records of your correspondence, comments, in a file specific to your person.

Sharing your information

Conceptronic does not sell, trade or rent the PII we collect online. Unless with your permission, Conceptronic share the PII you provide online only with other Conceptronic entities and/or business that provide services to Conceptronic and only for the purposes described above. Where Conceptronic engages third parties to perform services on behalf of Conceptronic, Conceptronic will require them to observe the intent of this Privacy statement. If Conceptronic is required to provide PII in response to a court order, subpoena, or government investigation, Conceptronic will comply with the request. Conceptronic reserve the right to report to law enforcement agencies any activities Conceptronic believe is reasonably necessary to enforce or apply our Terms and Conditions to protect the rights, property, and safety of others and Conceptronic.

If Conceptronic or its related entities were to merge with or be acquired by another business entity, it is likely that all obligation and rights mentioned in this statement will lie on the then created parties.

Access and change your information

Conceptronic try to ensure you that your information and preferences are accurate and complete. If you have registered your Conceptronic product or created personal profiles online, you may access and change your information by visiting the website where you submitted it.

The use of cookies on the site

Conceptronic sends cookies (a small data file transferred by a website to a persons computer's hard drive) when you surf on the website, respond to online surveys or polls, or request information. Accepting the cookies used on the website does not give Conceptronic access to your PII, but Conceptronic can use the cookies to identify your computer. The collected information permits Conceptronic to analyze traffic patterns on the website to enable Conceptronic to better your experience on the website by improving content and usability.

The use of third-party media

Conceptronic does not run third-party ads on the website. Conceptronic may use third-party media and research companies to place ads for Conceptronic on other parties' websites.

Protecting your information

Conceptronic is committed to protect the information you provide us. To prevent unauthorized access, maintain accuracy, and ensure proper use of information, Conceptronic have employed physical, electronic and managerial processes to safeguard and secure the information Conceptronic collects online.
